

Dr. Crysta Chatman is a dedicated family physician with a deep commitment to providing comprehensive care across all stages of life. Since completing medical school, Dr. Chatman, a former NHSC scholar, has focused her career on serving underserved communities, working to improve health outcomes and collaborating with community partners to create lasting change. She spent seven years serving in a FQHC in Washington, DC, before relocating to Tulsa in 2022 where she is now the medical director at the OU Wayman Tisdale Clinic on the city's North Side.