

Dr. Motolani E. Adedipe (nee Ogunsanya), Assistant Professor at the Department of Pharmacy, Clinical and Administrative Sciences and TSET Health Promotion Research Center at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center. With clinical (DPh) and graduate (Ph.D.) training in pharmacy, she earned her MSc and Ph.D. degrees in Pharmaceutical Sciences from The University of Texas at Austin in 2014 and 2017, respectively. Her research focuses on health behaviors in underserved minority groups, patient-reported outcomes in rare diseases and cancer, and developing interventions to address quality of life issues. Dr. Adedipe is currently evaluating the efficacy of an mHealth platform for enhancing the quality of life of Black prostate cancer survivors. Follow her on LinkedIn: LinkedIn https://www.linkedin.com/in/motolani/ or on Twitter @motolaniPhD